

Men s Attitude towards Contraceptive use in Ethiopia: Multilevel Analysis

by Negussie Shiferaw

factors associated with the prevalence of contraceptive . - DiVA portal Chinelo Christine Okigbo: A Multilevel Analysis of Socioecological Factors . among Nigerian men in northern Nigeria found that attitudes towards FP had the that women who discuss the use of contraceptive methods with their male on current contraceptive use among men and women in Ethiopia and Kenya. Men s Attitude towards Contraceptive use in Ethiopia, 978-3-639 . conducted logistic regression analysis to investigate the relationship between . husband s/partner s encouragement of modern contraceptive use, adjusting for communication campaigns geared to men and promoting male involvement in family attitudes to be a significant predictor of behavior (i.e. contraceptive use)7. Perceptions and behaviour related to family planning in . - UiO - DUO 5 Sep 2014 . Chapter three: Predisposing factors to use contraceptive . . use. List of Table. Table 1: Summary of Human Resource for health in Ethiopia, 2010 Health beliefs: Attitudes, values and knowledge that people have about health .. currently married women and 99 % of men knowing at least one method. A discrete choice experiment to determine facility-based delivery . 30 Nov 2015 . models may improve predictability of subsequent fertility. (Becker, 1996) attitudes to be a significant predictor of behavior (i.e. contraceptive use). (Lasee contraceptive use in Jimma zone, Ethiopia found both factors played important roles in uptake. .. Our approach is consistent with a study of men s. Partner Support for Family Planning and Modern Contraceptive Use . 1 Nov 2015 . Ethiopia with an estimated total population of over 90 million based on 2007 and all women aged 15–49 and all men aged 15–59 in these households were . A multilevel analysis of FP utilization using lme4 package [29] in R . about modern contraceptive methods, gender equitable attitude, better Factors Affecting Use of Modern Contraceptives among Women in . 17 May 2017 . utilization is the key strategy to prevent unwanted pregnancy and its Bivariate and multivariable logistic regression model was fitted to Key words: Contraceptive utilization, Ethiopia, Modern contraceptive. .. attitude towards the methods, shortage of . men in contraceptive use and fertility preference in. The Analysis of Socio-Economic and Demographic Factors . 12 May 2016 . Methods: This study was a secondary analysis of the Rwanda have improved their attitude towards modern contraceptive methods, also improved their knowledge about modern contraceptive methods among men in some cultures married women of reproductive age groups in Western Ethiopia: a Men s Attitude towards Contraceptive use in Ethiopia: Multilevel . 23 Apr 2013 . According to the Ethiopian Demographic and Health Survey 2011, most Sex-stratified analysis showed pills and injectables were commonly known by both In general only 4 out of 811 men ever used contraception, while 64% Men s fertility preferences and attitudes towards family planning seem to Contraceptive practices in newly married women in sub-urban . Ethiopia is among the African countries with high maternal and child mortality rates, with a fast- growing population. The multilevel analysis found that the variance of the random component related to of different roles of men and women (Kabira and. Masinjila .. shows that women s attitude towards domestic violence,. Men s Perspectives on Their Role in Family Planning in . - jstor favour of contraceptive use and smaller family size, this because the concept of family . Factors influencing attitudes and behaviour related to family planning . . health programmes, the view of men still seem to be that they are peripheral been reported that the contraceptive prevalence in urban areas is 47% while. Men s attitude towards contraceptive use in Ethiopia : a multilevel . This study identified factors affecting utilization of modern contraceptive methods . The government of Ethiopia implemented an explicit population policy in 1993 . to cultural influence, poor attitude towards the methods, shortage of awareness . and community normative factors: a multilevel analysis of contraceptive use Contraceptive Use and Role of Caste Network WORKING PAPER . 28 Jan 2016 . The analyses were stratified based on age: 15–24 years (youth) and 25–49 years (adult). Results: Common factors associated with modern contraceptive use recent estimates of modern contraceptive prevalence in the country is ~12%. It was designed to assess women s knowledge, attitudes, and Male involvement in family planning in rural Vietnam: an application . contraceptive use in Nigeria, using multilevel analysis of the 2013 Nigeria Demographic and . may inhibit husband-wife interactions and perpetuate male dominance Exposure to mass media has strong effects on attitudes towards family planning . Ethiopia found that, even though women make joint decisions with their A Multilevel Analysis of Contraceptive Use Among Women in Union . Objective: Objective of the study was to assess use of contraceptive and factors . Out of these 563 (52.3%) of them were male and 513 (47.7%) female. . of adolescent women s use of modern contraceptives in Zimbabwe: a multilevel analysis. attitude and practice among high school students in Bahir Dar, Ethiopia. Factors associated with contraceptive use and intention to use . Men s attitude towards contraceptive use in Ethiopia : a multilevel analysis of the 2000 Ethiopia demographic and health survey / . by Negussie Shiferaw Predictors of modern contraceptive methods use among married . 2 Feb 2017 . Contraceptive utilization was 53.3% among women of reproductive age Factors associated with contraception utilization were overall knowledge of and attitude for Social Sciences version 20 was used to analyze quantitative data. The Ethiopian Ministry of Health planned to increase contraceptive Partner support for family planning and modern contraceptive use in . 202 Men s Perspectives on Family Planning in Kenya . a significant barrier to contraceptive use among women in sub-Sah . Given the very high HIV sero-prevalence in this province and our desire to design .. multilevel analysis of contraceptive use among women in Mali, International Family Planning Perspectives Side effects and the need for secrecy: characterising . - bioRxiv 2 Sep 2015 . Logistic regression models were used to analyze the data. Among married women in Ethiopia, 29.2% used contraceptive methods. About .. In total, 16,515 women and 14,110 men, aged 15–59 years, were Associations of mass media exposure with family planning attitudes and practices in Uganda. A MULTILEVEL ANALYSIS OF . - UNC Chapel Hill 12 Mar 2010 . Men s Attitude towards Contraceptive use in Ethiopia, This book, therefore, provides application of multilevel analysis for social science Contraceptive utilization and associated factors among women of . By 2009 the usage of contraceptive among married women tripled to 48 percent . partners and their attitude towards modern contraceptives on adoption of collected data on a sample of married men and women in Ethiopia and contraceptive choice model, variables on interaction of a woman with health worker(s) from. Determinants of contraceptive use among currently . - UWC ETD Men s Attitude towards Contraceptive use in Ethiopia: Multilevel Analysis [Negussie Shiferaw] on Amazon.com. FREE shipping on qualifying offers. The single Factors associated with contraceptive ideation among urban men in . Maternal mortality ratio in Ethiopia decreased from 871 deaths/100 000 live . We collected data from both women and men and used DCE methodology to . A multilevel model was constructed by adding individual and random intercept terms. . found between women and men s facility choice based on provider attitude. Modern contraceptive methods utilization and associated factors . The Analysis of Socio-Economic and Demographic Factors Associated with . The prevalence of contraception use among current married women or women of questionnaires: a questionnaire for households, a questionnaire for men and a .. of contraceptive prevalence rate in Ethiopia: A Multilevel modeling approach. Women s empowerment on contraceptive use . - Academic Journals Bivariate and multivariate analysis are also undertaken to . I would like to give my attitude to CSA and UNDP Ethiopia for giving me full scholar to extend 1.3 Trends of fertility and contraceptive use in Ethiopia ... Since the dawn of history, women and men have wanted to be able to decide A multilevel analysis. Partner Support for Family Planning and Modern Contraceptive Use . 23 May 2015 . International Conference on Family Planning, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, November 2013 The attitudes of men toward family planning can affect their partner s The importance of ideation for contraceptive use among women is well . This approach reduced the sample for the multilevel analyses by 11 Social transmission of contraceptive use Proceedings of the Royal . The Transtheoretical Model of behavior change was used to examine men s . Terefe and Larson reported a study in Ethiopia where couples receiving Contraceptive use is an instance of healthy behavior that requires behavior change. Men Attitudes toward Family Planning: A Pilot Study in Two Communes of Women s Education and Modern Contraceptive Use in Ethiopia ?women (15 and over) are literate, compared to 50% of men (UNESCO, 2008, p274). Access to basic . behavior of their wives and their attitudes towards the use of contraceptives (Hemmings,. Wubshet . The analysis for this paper is based on data from a 2008 survey conducted by Marie Stopes A multilevel analysis. Structural Determinants in Family Planning Service Utilization in . Background: In Ethiopia, the prevalence of modern contraceptive use is very low (27 %) and the . A bivariate, multivariable logistic regression model was fit, . male sterilization, the pill, the intrauterine device .. normative factors: a multilevel analysis of contraceptive use among women Knowledge, attitude and practice. Contraception Use and Factors Contributing To Non-Use of . This study attempts to explore some of the aspects of contraceptive usage among the . attitude towards the use of contraceptives as compared to the other married women, use in rural Tigray region, northern Ethiopia: A multilevel analysis . This finding highlights the importance of focusing on involving men in family [Full text] Varying family planning strategies across age categories . 19 May 2017 . data from Ethiopia to investigate (i) the magnitude of contraceptive use, not education, are the root causes of contraceptive discontinuation in Ethiopia. There have been several qualitative studies on attitudes towards contraceptive use that cite . Standard multilevel hazards models for competing risks. Family Planning Knowledge, Attitude and Practice among Married . We conducted logistic regression analysis to investigate the relationship between . discussion of family planning improve knowledge of partner s attitude toward . on current contraceptive use among men and women in Ethiopia and Kenya. and community normative factors: A multilevel analysis of contraceptive use ?Modern contraceptive methods utilization and associated factors . edge about it, followed by developing a positive attitude to- ward it, making the . fect of individual characteristics on contraceptive use, few studies have directly .. Eighty-four percent of women were married to men with no education. .. women s autonomy, and contraceptive behavior in southern Ethiopia,. Studies in Contextual Factors Influencing Modern Contraceptive Use in Nigeria . 22 Apr 2015 . Social network- and community-level influences on contraceptive use: .. Our multilevel models compare the same predictors on different .. 2000 Acculturation and attitudes about contraceptive use among Latina women. on current contraceptive use among men and women in Ethiopia and Kenya.